MESSAGE FROM THE BATTERY PARK CITY AUTHORITY
PRESIDENT & CEO, B.J. JONES

'Tis the season! After another great year here in Battery Park City we invite all our residents, partners, and friends to join us for a 2020 that's chock full of fun. This winter we've got 900 programs and events on offer across our indoor and outdoor public spaces, including an expanded and topical Tuesday Talks series, holiday and cultural celebrations in our Community Room, Friday Night art house film classics and a concert and poetry marking Earth Day's 50th Anniversary!

We look forward to spending the season with you in Battery Park City.

See you here.

FRIDAY, JAN 10

FRIDAY NIGHT ART HOUSE CLASSICS:
 PUTNEY SWOPE
 6PM, 6 RIVER TERRACE

The best art house cinema is characterized by independent filmmakers with uncompromising vision. This series features courageous films inspired by the civil rights movement. Putney Swope is a 1969 satirical comedy film about a black advertising executive. The film satirizes the advertising world, the portrayal of race in Hollywood films, the white power structure and the nature of corporate corruption. Free popcorn will be served, and a discussion will follow the screenings. Mature audiences only.

MONDAY, JAN 13

WRITE ME FILM SCREENING AND ARTIST
 & ACTIVIST TALKBACK
 7PM, MUSEUM OF JEWISH HERITAGE
 36 BATTERY PLACE

Write Me (2019; 7 mins.) follows a Holocaust survivor and a survivor of human trafficking regaining power over their bodies by removing physical evidence of “branding.” Write Me is adapted from the poem, “After Auschwitz,” by Deborah Kahan Kolb, and premieres at New York Jewish Film Festival. The preview screening will be followed by a discussion with director Pearl Gluck, poet Deborah Kahan Kolb, composer Lisa Gutkin, Auschwitz survivor Shirley Gottesman, trafficking survivor Barbara Freeman and tattoo artist Virginia Elwood. The free evening is part of a series to engage audiences in conversations on art, social justice, and history.

Write Me programs are made possible through a community partnership with the Museum of Jewish Heritage - A Living Memorial to the Holocaust and the Battery Park City Authority.

TUESDAY, JAN 14

SUNDAY, APR05

KNICKERBOCKER CHAMBER ORCHESTRA: SONGS OF OUR SPHERE—CELEBRATING THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF EARTH DAY!

4PM, 6 RIVER TERRACE

“Songs of Our Sphere” is inspired by ancient Greek philosopher Pythagoras’s Music of the Spheres. Pythagoras believed that the movements of celestial bodies are a form of music, and that, through this connection, humanity is at one with the universe. KCO musicians will present works that celebrate nature, such as Vivaldi’s Spring from “The Four Seasons;” excerpts from Copland’s “The Tender Land;” and Rodgers & Hammerstein’s “Oh, What A Beautiful Morning;” as well as works, such as Kurt Weill’s “Lost in the Stars”—all music that speaks to issues, spiritual and literal, that confront our continued existence on this earth

Made possible through a partnership with Knickerbocker Chamber Orchestra and Battery Park City Authority with additional support from Goldman Sachs Group, Inc.
