

This blue color represents the height of potential flooding from future severe weather.

The Battery Park City Authority is responding to this threat through its resiliency projects, in conjunction with the City of New York.

This height is calculated for a 2050 100-year storm based on Sea Level Rise estimates as published by the NYC Panel on Climate Change.

Learn more about BPC's resiliency projects:
bpca.ny.gov

Battery Park
City Authority